An Amendment of the FASB Accounting Standards Codification®
The FASB Accounting Standards Codification® is the source of authoritative generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) recognized by the FASB to be applied by nongovernmental entities. An Accounting Standards Update is not authoritative; rather, it is a document that communicates how the Accounting Standards Codification is being amended. It also provides other information to help a user of GAAP understand how and why GAAP is changing and when the changes will be effective.

Summary

Why Is the FASB Issuing This Accounting Standards Update (Update)?

On February 25, 2016, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update No. 2016-02, Leases (Topic 842), to increase transparency and comparability among organizations by recognizing lease assets and lease liabilities on the balance sheet and disclosing essential information about leasing transactions.

The Board has an ongoing annual improvements project on its agenda to clarify the Codification more generally and/or to correct unintended application of guidance. Items included in that project are not expected to have a significant effect on current accounting practice or create a significant administrative cost for most entities. The amendments in this Update are of a similar nature to the items typically addressed in the Codification improvements project. However, the Board decided to issue a separate Update for the improvements related to Update 2016-02 to increase stakeholders’ awareness of the amendments and to expedite the improvements.

The Board did not create a transition resource group (TRG) to address the leases guidance because many of the concepts used in Topic 842, Leases, are similar to those currently used in Topic 840, Leases. Although a formal TRG was not created, the Board and staff have been assisting stakeholders during this transitional period by responding to inquiries received and proactively seeking feedback on potential implementation issues that could arise as organizations implement Topic 842. The amendments in this Update include the following items brought to the Board’s attention through those interactions with stakeholders:

1. Determining the fair value of the underlying asset by lessors that are not manufacturers or dealers (Issue 1)
2. Presentation on the statement of cash flows—sales-type and direct financing leases (Issue 2)
3. Transition disclosures related to Topic 250, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (Issue 3).

Issue 1: Determining the Fair Value of the Underlying Asset by Lessors That Are Not Manufacturers or Dealers

Topic 840 provides an explicit exception for lessors who are not manufacturers or dealers (generally financial institutions and captive finance companies) for determining fair value of the leased property (underlying asset under Topic 842). For those entities, fair value is ordinarily the underlying asset’s cost, reflecting any volume or trade discounts that may apply, instead of fair value as defined in Topic 820, Fair Value Measurement. Topic 842 did not carry forward this exception. Therefore, lessors previously qualifying for the exception in Topic 840 are now required to apply the definition of fair value in Topic 820, which is defined as the price that would be received to sell the underlying asset in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date (exit price). Those lessors were concerned that this change in determining fair value will not provide decision-useful financial information because, unlike current practice, certain acquisition costs (for example, sales taxes and delivery charges) would be expensed at lease commencement and subsequently recognized through increased interest income for sales-type and direct financing leases. Those lessors noted their belief that it was neither the Board’s intent to change those lessors’ financial reporting nor its intent to eliminate the exception.

The amendments in this Update reinstate the exception in Topic 842 for lessors that are not manufacturers or dealers. Specifically, those lessors will use their cost, reflecting any volume or trade discounts that may apply, as the fair value of the underlying asset. However, if significant time lapses between the acquisition of the underlying asset and lease commencement, those lessors will be required to apply the definition of fair value (exit price) in Topic 820.

Issue 2: Presentation on the Statement of Cash Flows—Sales-Type and Direct Financing Leases

Topic 840 does not provide guidance on how cash received from leases by lessors from sales-type and direct financing leases should be presented in the cash flow statement. The Board was informed that lessors within the scope of Topic 942, Financial Services—Depository and Lending, have been presenting “principal payments received under leases” within investing activities on the basis of an illustrative example in Topic 942. Those lessors expressed a preference for continuing this presentation, which is consistent with the presentation of principal payments received on loans more generally. Topic 842 introduced guidance that requires all lessors to present all cash receipts from leases within operating activities. The illustrative example in Topic 942 was not eliminated when Topic 842 was issued. Consequently, conflicting guidance exists on the presentation of “principal payments received from leases” under sales-type and direct financing leases.

The amendments in this Update address the concerns of lessors within the scope of Topic 942 about where “principal payments received under leases” should be presented. Specifically, lessors that are depository and lending institutions within the scope of Topic 942 will present all “principal payments received under leases” within investing activities.
Issue 3: Transition Disclosures Related to Topic 250, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections

Topic 842 requires an entity (a lessee or lessor) to provide transition disclosures under Topic 250 upon adoption of Topic 842, except for the requirements in paragraph 250-10-50-1(b)(2). That paragraph otherwise would have required an entity to disclose, in the annual period in which a change in accounting principle is made, the effect of the change on the following items for the current annual period and any prior annual periods retrospectively adjusted:

1. Income from continuing operations
2. Net income (or other appropriate captions of changes in the applicable net assets or performance indicator)
3. Any other affected financial statement line item
4. Any affected per-share amounts.

However, the Topic 842 transition disclosures do not explicitly exempt entities from applying paragraph 250-10-50-3, which requires entities to provide in the fiscal year in which a new accounting principle is adopted the identical disclosures for interim periods after the date of adoption. Several large practitioners were concerned that entities could be required to provide those disclosures for the interim periods after adoption (for example, the first quarter of the adoption year) that they are not required to provide for the first full annual period after the date of adoption. Consequently, they requested that the Board clarify whether its intent was to require those interim disclosures.

The amendments in this Update clarify the Board’s original intent by explicitly providing an exception to the paragraph 250-10-50-3 interim disclosure requirements in the Topic 842 transition disclosure requirements.

Who Is Affected by the Amendments in This Update?

The amendments in this Update for Issue 1 affect all lessors that are not manufacturers or dealers (generally financial institutions and captive finance companies).

The amendments in this Update for Issue 2 affect all lessors that are depository and lending entities within the scope of Topic 942.

The amendments in this Update for Issue 3 affect all entities that are lessees or lessors.
When Will the Amendments Be Effective?

The transition and effective date provisions for this Update apply to Issue 1 and Issue 2. They do not apply to Issue 3 because the amendments for that Issue are to the original transition requirements in Topic 842.

The amendments in this Update amend Topic 842. That Topic has different effective dates for public business entities and entities other than public business entities. The effective date of those amendments is for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and interim periods within those fiscal years for any of the following:

1. A public business entity
2. A not-for-profit entity that has issued, or is a conduit bond obligor for, securities that are traded, listed, or quoted on an exchange or an over-the-counter market
3. An employee benefit plan that files financial statements with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

For all other entities, the effective date is for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2020.

Early application is permitted. An entity should apply the amendments as of the date that it first applied Topic 842, using the same transition methodology in accordance with paragraph 842-10-65-1(c).

Background Information and Basis for Conclusions

Introduction

BC1. The following summarizes the Board’s considerations in reaching the conclusions in this Update. Individual Board members gave greater weight to some factors than to others.

BC2. On February 25, 2016, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update No. 2016-02, Leases (Topic 842), to increase transparency and comparability among organizations by recognizing lease assets and lease liabilities on the balance sheet and disclosing essential information about leasing transactions.

BC3. The Board has an ongoing annual improvements project on its agenda to clarify the Codification more generally and/or to correct unintended application of guidance. Items included in that project are not expected to have a significant effect on current accounting practice or create a significant administrative cost for most entities. The amendments in this Update are of a similar nature to the items typically addressed in the Codification improvements project. However, the Board decided to issue a separate Update for the improvements related to Update 2016-02 to increase stakeholders’ awareness of the amendments and to expedite the improvements.

BC4. The FASB did not create a transition resource group (TRG) to address the leases guidance because many of the concepts used in Topic 842, Leases, are similar to those currently used in Topic 840, Leases. Although a formal TRG was not created, the Board and staff have been assisting stakeholders during this transitional period by responding to inquiries received and proactively seeking feedback on potential implementation issues that could arise as organizations implement Topic 842. The amendments in this Update include the following items brought to the Board’s attention through those interactions with stakeholders:

1. Determining the fair value of the underlying assets by lessors that are not manufacturers or dealers (Issue 1)
2. Presentation on the statement of cash flows—sales-type and direct financing leases (Issue 2)
3. Transition disclosures related to Topic 250, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (Issue 3).

BC5. A discussion of those issues and the Board’s basis for conclusions for addressing those issues are provided below.
Benefits and Costs

BC6. The objective of financial reporting is to provide information that is useful to present and potential investors, creditors, donors, and other capital market participants in making rational investment, credit, and similar resource allocation decisions. However, the benefits of providing information for that purpose should justify the related costs. Present and potential investors, creditors, donors, and other users of financial information benefit from improvements in financial reporting, while the costs to implement new guidance are borne primarily by present investors. The Board’s assessment of the costs and benefits of issuing new guidance is unavoidably more qualitative than quantitative because there is no method to objectively measure the costs to implement new guidance or to quantify the value of improved information in financial statements.

BC7. Overall, the Board decided that the amendments in this Update will simplify the implementation and ongoing application of Topic 842 by allowing those lessors to continue to apply certain existing guidance and clarifying that lessors and lessees do not have to provide certain interim period transition disclosures. The Board also decided that the amendments will not compromise the decision usefulness of information provided to present and potential investors, creditors, donors, and other users.

Basis for Conclusions

Issue 1: Determining the Fair Value of the Underlying Asset by Lessors That Are Not Manufacturers or Dealers

BC8. Topic 840 provides an explicit exception for lessors that are not manufacturers or dealers (generally financial institutions and captive finance companies) for determining fair value of the leased property (underlying asset under Topic 842). For those entities (qualifying lessors), fair value is ordinarily the qualifying lessor’s cost, reflecting any volume or trade discounts that may apply, as opposed to fair value as defined in Topic 820, Fair Value Measurement. Topic 842 did not carry forward this exception. Therefore, lessors previously qualifying for this exception (the fair value exception) are now required to apply the definition of fair value in Topic 820, which is the price that would be received to sell the underlying asset in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date (exit price).

BC9. Under Topic 840, qualifying lessors capitalize acquisition and delivery costs associated with the underlying asset (qualifying costs). This capitalized amount is considered the fair value of the underlying property under the fair value exception in Topic 840. Because fair value equals the qualifying lessor’s cost, no selling profit or loss is recognized at lease commencement.

BC10. For operating leases, the carrying value of the underlying asset, including capitalized costs, is generally amortized on a straight-line basis over the lease term, such that at the end of the lease term the carrying value of the underlying asset approximates its estimated residual value. For direct financing leases and sales-type leases, the net investment in the lease, which is equal to the cost of the underlying asset, is amortized over the lease term using the effective interest method, such that the net investment in the lease at the end of the lease term approximates the estimated residual value of the asset.

BC11. Qualifying lessors and large practitioners communicated to the Board that practice is consistent in its application of the fair value exception and the types of costs capitalized (for example, sales taxes and delivery charges), primarily because the exception has been applied since the issuance of FASB Statement No. 13, Accounting for Leases, in November 1976.

BC12. Qualifying lessors expressed concern that if the fair value exception is not reinstated, they will be required to expense otherwise qualifying costs at lease commencement only to then “recover” the costs by recognizing interest income for direct financing leases and sales-type leases that is significantly greater than that being recognized under Topic 840. Those lessors communicated that this result does not provide investors with relevant information and does not faithfully represent the economics of their business model, which involves financing the total cost of the underlying asset for the lessee. Additionally, qualifying lessors noted their belief that it was neither the Board’s intent to change the application of fair value for those lessors’ financial reporting nor its intent to eliminate the fair value exception.

BC13. The Board considered the elimination of the fair value exception in Topic 842 and the repercussions on the financial reporting of qualifying lessors, particularly for direct financing leases and sales-type leases. After performing research, the Board noted that eliminating the fair value exception for qualifying lessors was not explicitly deliberated during the project leading up to the issuance of Topic 842. The Board concluded that it was not its intent to eliminate the fair value exception or affect classification and measurement for qualifying lessors. Therefore, the Board chose to reinstate the fair value exception by adding paragraph 842-30-55-17A.

BC14. The Board chose to not significantly change the wording of the fair value exception from that currently provided in Topic 840 because it has existed and been applied since the issuance of Statement 13. The Board expects that lessors will apply the exception in a similar manner under Topic 842 as it has been applied under Topic 840.
Issue 2: Presentation on the Statement of Cash Flows—Sales-Type and Direct Financing Leases

BC15. Topic 840 does not provide guidance on how cash received from leases by lessors from sales-type and direct financing leases should be presented in the statement of cash flows. Lessors within the scope of Topic 942, Financial Services—Depository and Lending, informed the Board that in accordance with that Topic, they have been presenting “principal payments received under leases” within investing activities on the basis of an illustrative example in Topic 942. Those lessors expressed a preference for continuing this presentation, which is consistent with the presentation of principal payments received on loans more generally. Topic 842 introduced guidance that requires that all lessors present all cash receipts from leases within operating activities. The illustrative example in Topic 942 was not eliminated upon the issuance of Topic 842. Consequently, conflicting guidance exists on the presentation of “principal payments received from leases” under sales-type and direct financing leases.

BC16. The Board discussed what would be the appropriate presentation of “principal payments received under leases” under direct financing and sales-type leases for entities within the scope of Topic 942. The Board decided that depository and lending lessors should continue to present those payments within investing activities. Therefore, it amended paragraph 842-30-45-5 and added paragraph 942-230-45-4.

Issue 3: Transition Disclosures Related to Topic 250, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections

BC17. Topic 842 requires an entity (a lessee or lessor) to provide transition disclosures under Topic 250 upon adoption of Topic 842, except for the requirements in paragraph 250-10-50-1(b)(2). That paragraph otherwise would have required an entity to disclose, in the annual period in which a change in accounting principle is made, the effect of the change on the following items for the current annual period and any prior annual periods retrospectively adjusted:

1. Income from continuing operations
2. Net income (or other appropriate captions of changes in the applicable net assets or performance indicator)
3. Any other affected financial statement line item
4. Any affected per-share amounts.

BC18. The Board concluded that it would not have been cost-beneficial to require these annual disclosures because the primary effect of the changes in Topic 842 was recognition of assets and liabilities on the balance sheet. However, the Topic 842 transition disclosures do not explicitly exempt entities from applying paragraph 250-10-50-3, which requires entities to provide in the fiscal year in which a new accounting principle is adopted the identical disclosures for interim periods after the date of adoption. Several large practitioners were concerned that entities could be required to provide those disclosures for the interim periods after adoption (for example, the first quarter of the adoption year) that they are not required to provide for the first full annual period after the date of adoption. Consequently, they requested that the Board clarify whether its intent was to require those interim disclosures.

BC19. The Board concluded that it was not its intent to require interim transition disclosures while not requiring annual disclosures for the same performance items. Therefore, the Board amended paragraph 842-10-65-1(i) to explicitly exclude the interim disclosure requirements in paragraph 250-10-50-3 from the Topic 842 transition disclosure requirements.

Effective Date and Transition

BC20. The transition and effective date provisions for this Update apply to Issue 1 and Issue 2. They do not apply to Issue 3 because the amendments for that Issue are to the original transition requirements in Topic 842.

BC21. The amendments in this Update amend Topic 842. That Topic has different effective dates for public business entities and entities other than public business entities. The effective date of those amendments is for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and interim periods within those fiscal years for any of the following:

1. A public business entity
2. A not-for-profit entity that has issued, or is a conduit bond obligor for, securities that are traded, listed, or quoted on an exchange or an over-the-counter market
3. An employee benefit plan that files financial statements with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

For all other entities, the effective date is for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2019, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2020.

BC22. Early application is permitted. An entity should apply the amendments as of the date that it first applied Topic 842, using the same transition methodology in accordance with paragraph 842-10-65-1(c).
Amendments to the XBRL Taxonomy

The amendments to the FASB Accounting Standards Codification® in this Accounting Standards Update require improvements to the U.S. GAAP Financial Reporting Taxonomy (Taxonomy). Those improvements, which will be incorporated into the proposed 2020 Taxonomy, are available through Taxonomy Improvements provided at www.fasb.org, and finalized as part of the annual release process.
